ERIN ROBBINS has been working in the technology industry as a communications and marketing professional with Realty World NCA to help deliver social media and technology integration to real estate professionals.

Topics Covered:

- 1. How and why you should use social media to increase your business.
2. What to do to make social media part of your business starting today.
3. How to manage your time so social media does not become a burden.
4. How to tie social media sites together... so what you do to one, works with them all.
